

Estates are commonly thought of as millions and millions of dollars worth of assets. This is not necessarily true; planned estates are for everyone who has their family's future on their mind. We helped plan estates for all sizes and variations. Having a plan for your family's future sometimes is a frustrating task, due to constant changes in rules, regulations and codes; this is where Kidwell and Company comes in to help. We believe that developing the right structured plan can help provide a safe and sound foundation for your family/beneficiaries.
